A cross-sectional view of a mechanical assembly. A large, curved, hatched component (1) is positioned at the top. Below it, a central assembly is shown, including a hatched component (C) and a central shaft or pin (6). To the right of the central assembly is another hatched component (B). The entire assembly is mounted on a base (A), which is shown in cross-section at the bottom.
